ADVERTISE in the BULLETIN. On Tuesday W. R. West lost a pension certificate. He advertised it in Thursday's issue of this paper, and on Saturday it was returned to him. This is a sample case.

THE meeting of the South Edmonton school trustees held on Saturday last was adjourned to Saturday 14th instant, when a trustee will be elected in place of Joseph McDonald who retires at end of his term.

THE Lethbridge News says that the past year did not prove as prosperous a one for Lethbridge and its citizens as could have been wished. This it considers is due to the inflation in business and building during the two preceding years.

W. R. WEST of South Edmonton threshed 686 measured bushels of grain from 12 acres of land this fall. From 2½ acres the yield was 102 bushels of wheat. Three acres of barley yielded 230 bushels, and six and three-quarters acres of oats yielded 254 bushels.

The goods were from the fur house of John Martin & Co., Montreal, and were in charge of H. T. Martin, of the firm. G. A. Gouin of Calgary was auctioneer. Considering the short notice given of the sale it was very successful.

R. McKERNAN captured a bald eagle at Cooking lake in the Beaver hills last week. It is very tame, and on Saturday he drove to town with the eagle sitting on his head. It was secured from flying away by a rope fastened to one leg. A. H. Martin, taxidermist, said it was three years old and had not yet become fully marked. The wings when outspread measured six feet from tip to tip.

THE ball given by the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of "G" division, Northwest mounted police, at Fort Saskatchewan, on Friday evening, was a great success guests coming from all directions, a large number being from Edmonton. The mess and recreation rooms were fitted up as a ball room and decorated most artistically. The music was furnished by the Stewart Bros. Everything passed off most pleasantly and dancing was kept up until early morning.

THE following from the Benton River Press, will be interesting to many of the old settlers around Edmonton who were well acquainted with subject of this sketch, during his residence here years ago. "Word has been received the death of Hugh Munroe, who has long been known as the oldest man in Montana. Mr. Munroe, who lived on Two Medicine Creek, four miles north of the agency, on Blackfoot reservation, in Choteau country, was born near Montreal, Canada, May 4th, 1784, and was therefore over 108 years of age at the time of his death, which occurred on Thursday, the 8th December. At the age of 18, he started west with a relative, in the employ of the Hudson's Bay company, and was stationed on the Saskatchewan river. In 1806 Munroe married a Blackfoot woman and left the employ of the company to dwell among the Indians. Much of his early married life was spent among the Kootenais. In 1832, having heard of the arrival of the American Fur company's traders at the mouth of the Marias, he made a long journey with his wife, to again see white men and lay in a stock of tobacco. In 1836, with a party of Kootenais, he discovered and christened St. Mary's lake, erecting a large cross there at the time. In 1853 Gov. Steven's survey party landed at Fort Benton, and Munroe acted as guide and interpreter as far as Walla-Walla, from which point he returned to the Kootenais. About ten years ago Munroe returned to the Blackfoot reservation, and later took up his residence on Two Medicine Creek, about 20 miles east of the main range of the Rockies."

THE British Columbia correspondent of the Winnipeg Commercial says: "There is a prospect of a hard winter for cattle with a consequent stiffening in the prices of beef. At present there is no material change from former quotations, but there is already an appreciable difference in the quality of beeves from the upper country, indicating at an early date considerable appreciation. There have already been six weeks of winter in the interior and continued cold weather must have a serious effect on stock." Live steers are quoted at 4c, cows 3½c, dressed beef, 7½c to 7¾c. Creamery butter, is 27c to 28c.

The election to fill the vacancy created by the completion of the term of office of J. A. DELAYED REPORT.

The following report of the proceedings of the Northwest assembly was delayed unaccountably in the mail:

REGINA, December 16th.

Lineham introduced a bill to give further powers to the town of Calgary.

McKay moved for papers relating to the action taken or contemplated by the Dominion government regarding a resolution passed by the assembly in 1892, asking that scrip be granted the Northwest mounted police.

Brett introduced a bill to amend the ordinance respecting infectious diseases and respecting the profession of medicine and surgery.

Magrath introduced a bill to make regulation respecting the working of coal mines.

Bills respecting the veterinary profession, to incorporate the Roman Catholic Bishop of Saskatchewan, and to amend the liquor license ordinance were read a second time. The bill respecting the holding of cemeteries in trust for religious bodies was passed through committee.

Haultain's bill respecting assessment of railways was considered in committee.

Before the house met Messrs. Aikens, Munson, Baker and Whyte were heard regarding the bill. The bill provides for exemption of roadway, but taxes land and buildings. Aikens objected to taxation of buildings. Munson objected to taxation of land and buildings. Baker wanted complete exemption of all railway property.

McKay moved in committee, that the property of all colonization roads be exempt from taxation.

Davidson, Tweed, Sutherland and Brett supported, chiefly on the ground that to tax railways was to hinder their construction and thereby injure the country.

Campbell, Mowat, Oliver and Haultain opposed on the ground that the railways deriving their income from the country and benefitting by its advancement should bear their fair share of the public burdens. That if special cases required special consideration they should be arranged for on their individual merits. Magrath pointed out that the effect of the amendment would be to entirely cripple the Lethbridge school district. Insinger suggested an amendment in favor of the Manitoba Northwestern to have effect for ten years. Haultain was disposed to agree. Oliver pointed out that the amendment exempted lands held for speculative purposes as well as property required for the operation of the road.

Cayley suggested that McKay withdraw his motion for the purpose of amending it, which was agreed to.

Haultain moved the adjournment of house. No night session.

A REPLY TO AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

Which is the best and cheapest Dry Goods Store in Town? is the question now frequently asked by the Settlers, who have recently arrived in this district. In answer to this important question, I would respectfully but emphatically reply, the

MANCHESTER HOUSE.

Dealing as I do almost exclusively in Dry Goods, I have always on hand a larger and better assorted stock than any house in Town. Prices too are cut so fine, that it is frequently remarked by those who seek quotations "Why you are selling as cheap as they do down east, and in fact in some cases cheaper."

Many of the lines have been personally selected in the best English Markets.

APPOINTMENTS.

The Calgary Herald in a recent editorial says:

"The assembly may say there shall be a council of public instruction; it may say that the present executive committee of the assembly shall constitute the council under the Mowat bill; it may provide for a superintendent, for inspectors, for examiners and the rest; but the actual appointment of these officials is not in the hands either of the assembly or the assembly's executive committee. The Mowat bill may pass, but the appointments will all be made by the lieutenant-governor himself, who is not obliged to listen to any adviser in this connection."

The Herald is under a serious mistake in this matter. The right of the Northwest assembly to create an office by legislation is undoubted, and its right fill that office by legislative enactment is as undoubted. But this would be an altogether clumsy way of transacting business, therefore the system of delegating the power of appointment is universally adopted. A report made by the minister of justice regarding the ordinance of last winter which constituted an executive committee to advise the lieutenant-governor is taken by some to indicate that the minister denies the right of the assembly to delegate this power of appointment to anyone—that it must be exercised by the assembly as representing the people or by the lieutenant-governor as representing the crown. While some people have taken this meaning out of the minister's report, it is not yet by any means certain that this was what he intended to convey. On the contrary, the probability is that while he wished to point out that the assembly or its executive committee would not be allowed to interfere with the functions of the lieutenant-governor acting as the executive officer or commissioner of the Dominion government—which was quite proper—he did not propose that the executive officer or commissioner or lieutenant-governor should attempt to usurp the functions of the assembly inherent to its existence as a legislative body. It is not at all likely that the minister of justice, who is now premier, would wish to see the representative of the crown in the Territories at loggerheads with the people continually as to who should give effect to their ordinances when they could certainly defeat him at every turn, either by legislating his appointee out of office, legislating the office out of existence or refusing to vote the salary of the official whom he had appointed. The Herald may make its mind easy on that point. Whatever the minister of justice may think or whatever the lieutenant-governor may do, as long as the assembly controls its own legislation and its own funds, so long it will control the appointment of its own officers. True the lieutenant-governor may, at present, make appointments without taking the advice of the executive committee of the house, but it is safe to say that the experiment will not be continued longer than the next meeting of the assembly, and that it will not be repeated afterwards. It is paying but a poor compliment to the good judgment of the new premier or of the lieutenant-governor to suppose for an instant that any such attempt will be made.

On Monday evening, the 2nd instant, "G" division, N. W. M. P., stationed here, had their annual dinner and with their usual generosity invited a number of civilians to partake of their hospitality. As luck would have it a heavy snow storm set in on Sunday and made travelling so bad that many friends from Edmonton and Clover Bar were unable to attend. Your correspondent has attended several annual dinners, but found that, without exception, Monday's was the best of all. The room was most artistically decorated and showed that the men of the troop, who had undertaken the task, understood their business. Four large tables were laid and the turkeys and other eatables were done to a turn, and reflected great credit on the "chef." The usual toasts were given and responses made, and with some capital songs interspersed, helped to pass one of the most enjoyable evenings possible. There was an illustration on the wall which attracted the writer's attention, and he asked to be enlightened as to the meaning of the letters I. O. O. R. M. He found that it meant a new savage order known as the "Independent Order of Red Men." Thinking anything about the new order would interest the people, the writer made more enquiries as to the names of the leading braves, and found that it was a benevolent institution for the "depression" of fire water or other ardent mixtures, and that the first meeting was held at the dinner and adjourned till the following morning when the chief, "Old-man-with-many-dogs," harangued the leading braves, namely, "Young-man-afraid-of-his-horses," "Sarlet-Moccasin," "Many-Moons," "Rain-in-the-face," "One-Child," "Bear-Skin," "Spotted-Tail," "Speaking-Trumpet," "Goggle-Eye," "Laugh-Fire-Water," "Miserable-Man," "The-Man-who-limps," "Chief-sign-maker," and pointed out the evils of being so elevated, and that more "depression" was necessary for the enjoyment of the war dance. This seemed to be a signal, and immediately the war drum and tom-tom were heard accompanied by a chorus of hi-hi's that would have astonished old Crow-foot, had he been alive and here, and no doubt he would have sought out his brother chief, "Old-man-with-many-dogs," and offered to take him and the above braves into his band and conferred the order "B. C. & B." (breach clouts and blankets) on them. Thus was the first week of the new year celebrated at Fort Saskatchewan, and the citizens hope that the men of "G" division will enjoy many more pleasant New Year gatherings, and thank the troop for the happy evening of last Monday.

NORTHWEST ASSEMBLY.

REGINA, December 30th.

Cayley from the standing orders committee reported the petition for incorporation of the town of Macleod, with counter petition, and in committee of the whole spoke in support of counter petition according to the report of the committee of yesterday. He moved that the committee should rise—that is defeat the bill.

Haaltain supported the incorporation and the bill passed.

Brett asked in regard to the lapse of money appropriated for public works last year. A large amount had been lost on account of not having been expended before June 30th.

Haaltain said the total amount lost to the Territories last year was $19,000. Formerly three months had been granted in which to close up accounts after June 30th. This year only two months had been. If there was any fault it was with the members who had not been sufficiently prompt in undertaking the necessary works.

Insinger said it was impossible to properly allot and superintend the expenditure of the money voted between the opening of next season and June 30th.

Cayley explained that the voted of parliament only had effect until June 30th. The auditor-general decided what accounts were payable out of the funds appropriated for service up to June 30th, and from his decision there was no appeal. The only way out of the difficulty was to have the money annually voted by parliament placed at the credit of the Territories absolutely as is a provincial subsidy. The late executive had made representations to Ottawa on the matter. He was glad to know that the present executive was taking similar action.

The bill to provide a lien in favor of livery and boarding stable keepers was considered in committee. A provision permitting a stable keeper to follow an animal for debt for 30 days after it had been removed from his stable was struck out and the bill reported from the committee.

Brett's bill respecting public health was considered in committee. It is an amendment of the former ordinance on the same subject, having regard to the experience of last summer with the small-pox epidemic and to a prospective visit of cholera next summer.

EVENING SESSION.

Bills respecting public health; incorporation of the town of Whitewood (which prevented granting of bonuses to or owning mills, elevators, etc.); amending the butter and cheese ordinance by providing a penalty for non fulfilment of contract by patrons; to legalize a by-law of Indian Head municipality; to amend certain ordinances; respecting noxious weeds; and respecting livery and boarding stable keepers were passed through committee and read a third time. This closed the legislation of the session.

Magrath moved a resolution asking executive to provide for garnisheeing wages of employees of Northwest government.

Insinger, from the standing orders and library committee, reported that executive committee should make new rules for the management of the library and that a collection of works of Canadian authors be added.

Wilkins asked leave to introduce a bill. In explanation he said that his bill was intended to provide for the incorporation of the co-operative wood butchers' association. Although the bill was introduced at such a late hour of the session, as it was strictly along the line of a great deal of legislation, which the house had already passed, he had no doubt it would receive the same favorable attention that had been given to other like bills. It had struck him during the course of the session when so much time was occupied in constituting close corporations that it would be well to extend the principle to the important class and interest which the bill covered. So many such corporations had now been constituted that were it not so late in the session he would have drafted a further bill which would include the small remainder of the population not already protected, under the name and title of the corporation of associated mossbacks. The bill passed a first reading and was read by clerk Gordon for the information of the house, amid applause.

Davidson thought that the bill contained many good features, but as its preparation had evidently been hurried in order to give the mover an opportunity for further consideration, he would move the six months hoist, which was carried.

Commercial: "A bulletin upon cherries has been prepared by John Craig, horticulturalist of the Dominion Experimental farm at Ottawa, and published by the department of agriculture. The bulletin deals principally with results of experiments with hardy varieties of cherries, which have been brought from northern Europe, and tested at the farm during the past few years. Some of these varieties appear to be very hardy, and they have done well at the experimental farm and in portions of Quebec, where experimented with. It is expected that some of these varieties of cherries will prove adapted to cultivation in the prairie region of Manitoba and the Territories, where the list of tree fruits sufficiently hardy to stand the climate, is somewhat limited. Buds of these cherries were distributed last season among nurserymen, and a further distribution will be made from the experimental farm next season for propagation. The bulletin gives instructions in the various modes of propagating cherries."

EDMONTON BRICK COMPANY.

Have purchased their Brick Machinery to be shipped at once, the machinery is of the latest improved make and will turn out the finest kind of pressed brick, the brick will be considerably larger in size than the usual brick so the purchaser may count on the saving of one thousand in every ten, also less time and labor required. The price will be $10.00 per thousand delivered inside the city limits in large quantities. We will have brick ready for sale about the 1st, of May next. Any person requiring brick early it would be to their advantage to give their orders as soon as possible. We guarantee our brick 1st class and to fill all orders after May 1st. next.

MESSRS LITTLE & MALONEY,
PROPRIETORS.

BRICK! BRICK! YES BRICK.

Having attained the reputation of making the best brick in the Territories I will make it a point to continue to lead in that line; while thanking the building community of Edmonton and vicinity for their kind patronage in the past would invite their inspection of my work and prices in the future. Do not be deluded by parties who claim to make a pressed brick with a sand stock machine, or produce them in May in this country; it cannot be done. Pressed brick sell in the cities of Canada and the Eastern states for $20.00 and upward per thousand and can't be sold or made here for any $10.00. I set up no claim to such liberality, but can produce a good brick in July for $8.00; August, $7.00, September $6.00, and in large quantities. Parties requiring brick late or early in the season will find it to their advantage to examine what they are buying, before placing their orders. W. HUMBERSTONE.
